

Felsham & Gedding

Village News

Welcome to the May Edition of the Village News

Social life in the villages of Felsham and Gedding is in full swing, and just in case you wish to spread your wings further afield this month we have also included a couple of notable events in our neighbouring village of Bradfield St George.

As always, our villages' events are listed just inside the front cover so you have a quick and easy reference point as to what is on and when.

This issue also contains your raffle tickets for the Felsham & Gedding Family Fun Day, the second of our three annual fund-raising events. Naturally we always hope you will buy them and return the stubs (and money) to either the shop or Apple Tree Cottage (Lower Green, opposite the playing field) as the upkeep of the play equipment and playing field is wholly reliant on public donations such as these. If, however, your loyalties lie elsewhere then please do return your raffle tickets (to either the shop or Apple Tree Cottage) as this simple act helps the playing field as we can use them again.

I look forward to seeing you at one or more of the village events!

Felsham

Annual Parish Meeting

The Annual Parish Meeting will be held in the Village Hall on Tuesday 17th May 2018 at 7.00pm

So what is an Annual Parish Meeting?

This is your Village Meeting, it's not a council meeting! It does give the Parish Council the opportunity to report on what it's been up to during the past year and to hear reports from the various organisations and groups, which serve the community, about their events of the past year.

Who can attend?

Anyone and everyone is welcome - The Parish Meeting may by law discuss all parish affairs and pass resolutions about them. Anyone may attend but only registered electors of Felsham may speak and vote in a poll.

Will I be able to ask questions and make comments?

Yes. Not only will your views be welcomed but also it is precisely why the meeting is held. It is for you all to come together and talk about what goes on in Felsham, to discuss issues affecting the village, what you can do to improve things, make comments; complaints; suggestions; Raise anything you feel is important to Felsham and needs talking about.

Who will be there?

By law, the Parish Council chairman will lead the meeting and the Parish Clerk usually takes the minutes. Parish Councillors will be there, plus your District & County Cllr, however they are mainly there to listen and take note! The real purpose of the meeting is to enable residents to have your say on anything you consider is important to the people of Felsham parish.

How long will the meeting last?

As long as is needed but usually no more than an hour or so - but you can come and go as you see fit.

So.....SAVE THE DATE

- Please come along
- socialise, chat, drink wine
- or tea if you prefer
- find out what others do, how things are run, how you might help
- have an input, or just listen and observe if that's more your thing

If you don't come along you won't know how good it was.....

Parish Clerk: Mrs P Gladwell, Green Farm Barn, Great Green, Cockfield, Bury St Edmunds, Suffolk, IP30 0HJ

Police are warning farmers or smallholdings with livestock to be vigilant to suspicious activity as officers believe offenders, who slaughtered sheep on two previous occasions, may still be operating in Suffolk.

The first discovery was made on Saturday 23 December about 5pm in Sproughton by the owner who found the remains of one of the sheep by a stream. The carcass had been taken, leaving the remainder of the animal behind.

The second incident happened at some point between Wednesday 21 February and Thursday 22 February, when an unknown offender had cut the throats of three sheep that were grazing in a field situated off Berners Lane, near Chelmondiston, before removing the carcasses and leaving them in a small wooded area next to the field where two of three sheep were also left partially skinned.

Yesterday, Monday 9 April, officers recovered a bag close to a flock of sheep and believe the contents within may be linked to this type of illegal activity.

Anyone living in areas where sheep graze should report any out of the ordinary activity such as individuals handling livestock. Members of the public should also be mindful of being offered meat for sale in suspicious circumstances.

To report anything suspicious contact Suffolk police on 101.

A CONSERVATION UPDATE

It is a good 5 years since I wrote a piece for Village News about our farmland and the conservation measures we were starting to take to help the environment. At the time we were asking people to not walk the grass strips alongside the stream on Felsham Hall Farm (between footpaths no 2 & 14). They were part of the farm's Entry Level Stewardship (ELS) to provide habitats for invertebrates, ground nesting birds - specifically skylarks in our case - and small mammals such as field mice and voles which, along with the two boxes we put up, we hoped would attract barn owls back into the area. The good news is that it worked!!

Since that time – as far as we know - one of the boxes has been used each year for breeding. The other seems to provide a 'respite care home' for exhausted parent owls! And last year Felsham Hall Farm, alongside our farmland in Cockfield and Whelnetham, was accepted onto the higher Countryside Stewardship scheme (CSS).

Many of you will have walked along footpath no 5 beside the 'dormouse corridor' mixed species hedge put in by Suffolk Wildlife Trust, and last summer will have enjoyed the strips of wild flowers providing much needed food for bees, butterflies and other pollinators there and around many of the surrounding fields. The winters have seen us leave stubble areas uncultivated and additional planting of bird food and we have seen birds on the current RSPB 'red list' including Skylarks with increased presence of Linnets and Yellowhammers in flocks of some size.

This winter we have been particularly spoilt by the almost continuous presence of at least two barn owls regularly to be seen searching the grass strips and bird food areas for food on winter mornings and at dusk. We have put up additional nest boxes for Tawny Owls, Little Owls, Swifts and Kestrels among others. On other parts of our farm we are creating habitat for the now much endangered Turtle Dove.

There are a lot of footpaths across this farm, and we are pleased to welcome walkers and their well behaved dogs into this lovely area adjoining Bradfield Woods, but please stick to the official paths and please be good enough to pick up after your dog (and take the bags away!) There is a very detailed Felsham Footpath leaflet produced by the Parish Council available on request – but if in doubt as to where you should be walking (and should not) – do ask – on any farm, not just ours. There are often very sound reasons why people should not walk just where their fancy takes them and nowadays what looks like untended land may well have been left for a reason homing nesting birds and other creatures.

Dear Friends,

We've had a spate of thefts from three churches in the Cockfield benefice recently which set my mind thinking about crime and the Church.

I am a great fan of crime novels, from Agatha Christie to Val MacDermid. And in many of the books I read the clergy are either responsible for the crime, or they take it upon themselves to solve the crime. Just think of Father Brown by G K Chesterton, or the more modern Granchester by James Runcie (whose father was Archbishop in the 1980s).

So, what is it that attracts writers to the church and clergy? And why do they think that they make good detectives? Is it a holy calling for a local vicar or rector to solve a mystery?

I think there are several reasons for this. Church buildings and clergy houses are great settings for detective stories, and they contain lots of equipment that can be used to commit murder with!

The clergy are also supposed to be role models for how the Christian life should be lived. What we find is that they have feet of clay – and are just like all the rest of human society, with flaws and faults. This is very entertaining as well as encouraging for those who feel less than adequate in the eyes of God.

But I think the major reason is that the clergy are nosey. We like to know what's going on in people's lives, partly because we are often called to care for them and pray for them when things go wrong, and partly because we are very interested in people. In fact, we love people, which is why we're called to be clergy in the first place!

Luckily I have not been called upon to solve a murder case, and I pray that I will never have to!

Yours in Christ,
Revd Sharon

SAVE OUR SHOP

The plans for the community shop are still very much under way. We have been meeting every week as there are many things to discuss/plan.

We have met with Mid Suffolk Council with regards to a possible property within the village, although our main aim is to keep the shop & post office where it is.

Our thanks to John and Sue for all their help.

What has become blindingly obvious is that we will have to start fundraising to progress any further. So if anyone has ideas on this please e – mail us at ria.crosbie@btinternet.com

Our apologies if the questionnaire last month was a little confusing, there is a different, more detailed one available in the shop. Please take some time to fill this out; after all it will be a COMMUNITY SHOP and your input crucial.

Filled in questionnaires can be returned to the post office , Ince House, Upper Green or Gedding House, Gedding. Thank you to all who have returned their questionnaires already.

Letters to the Editor:

Dear Editor

Would it be at all possible to place a polite 'suggestion' in the next edition of the village news?

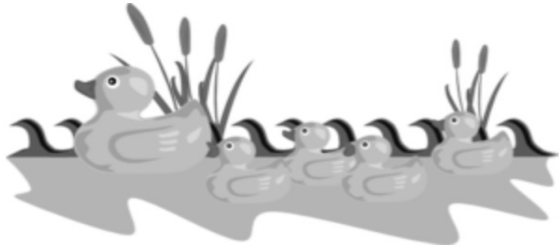

Both myself and Ann Jones have witnessed our first batch of ducklings being stalked by cats and Ann has found a dead baby robin on her lawn after witnessing a predatory cat in the garden. Another neighbour has also chased off a cat trying to kill the ducklings.

We appreciate cats are only doing what is natural to them but we would like to suggest that cat owners place bells on their cats collars to at least give the fledglings and ducklings a warning of their approach during the nesting and rearing season.

Thank you

Kind regards

Sharon Pearle

Thorpe Morieux and District Gardening Club.

For the latest meeting of The Thorpe Morieux and District Gardening Club the members were literally entertained during this month's club evening held in Thorpe Morieux Village Hall on the 19th March. Not a talk or serious gardening presentation but a very enjoyable performance or show depicting the life of a gardener to the gentry in the early part of the 19th century.

Mr Brian Thurlow dressed as a typical Suffolk country gardener and speaking with a broad Suffolk accent brought along some of the items or equipment as used by gardeners in around 1900. He then acted the part of Mr Potter describing his life's work as a gardener at the beginning of the century. After leaving school at the age of 13 he was unable to join his friends by taking up work on local farms due to ill health. However, he was invited to help the gardener at Glebe House where he worked for the next 50 years including 2 world wars. Potter had developed an interest in gardening when at school he had made and displayed a miniature Knot Garden winning a prize in the local annual garden show. Working at Glebe House he developed a true love of gardening progressing from boyhood to Head Gardener and eventually working on a real Knot garden crowning his life's work.

With a great gift of Showmanship Brian described the life enjoyed by Mr Potter in his rural Suffolk life of hard but fulfilling work. He was also able to pass on a few gardening tips used by Mr Potter which can still prove useful to today's gardener.

At the conclusion of the "show" club member Sid Broughton proposed a vote of thanks on behalf of the members to Brian commenting that Mr Potter had reminded several members of their childhood memories helping Dad in the garden and showing that the joy of gardening still has a place in Suffolk country life.

The club competition for this month was to bake a Shortbread Round to a given recipe. Brian (Mr Potter) kindly judged the entries enjoying very much tasting each and finally selecting a winner. On this occasion Carol Bailey showing her skills at baking as well as gardening most satisfied the judge.

Sid Broughton.

Whilst sorting out paperwork I came across an article in the BFP dated January 27th 1995 when Felsham residents were fed up with their draughty, run down village hall. Updating it was going to cost £80,000 so they set about raising funds to refurbish and extend the hall. Previously a new roof and floor had been put in the original front part, which had been the school when it was built in 1897 until Paul Marden was the chairman of the committee and, to keep costs down, local residents did much of the work themselves. The refurbishment has enhanced the life of the villagers and it has been used for numerous activities since, including the Laurels day centre, Fagends dramatic productions, table tennis, bowls, yoga etc.

Does anyone remember this?

Recognise anyone?

Not very good picture but Beverley Williams, looking very young😊, Mike Davis and my 26year old son Josh The article has now been passed on to David Williams for the archives

Make your own dandelion tea

wildlife
watch

To be made between March and June

You will need:

- A helpful adult
- Basket (for collecting your wild ingredients)
- Gardening gloves (to protect your hands from stinging nettles)
- Knife
- Saucepan
- Water
- Sieve

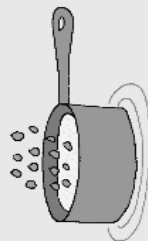

- 1 Pick light green dandelion leaves (not the dark older ones) and dig up roots.

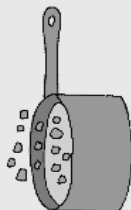

- 2 Wash and chop all dandelion leaves and roots (keep them separate).

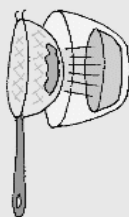

- 3 Bring one litre of water to the boil, reduce the heat and add two tablespoons of chopped dandelion root. Cover the pan and simmer for one minute.

- 4 Remove from the heat and add two tablespoons of chopped dandelion leaves. Allow the leaves to soak in the liquid for 40 minutes.

- 5 Using a sieve, strain the roots and leaves from the liquid.

- 6 Enjoy your healthy cup of wild dandelion tea!
